

2010 Boston Catholic Men's & Women's Conferences Ticket Updates & News

January 27, 2010

Tickets are selling well

Tickets for our 2010 Boston Catholic Men's and Women's Conferences are selling well.

There are only 1,735 seats that will be sold for each conference. Currently, there are 1,345 left for the Women's Conference and 1,390 for the Men's Conference. We have been informed that many larger group orders will be coming soon, so please order your tickets soon.

Also, the earlier the ticket is purchased, the better the seat, so we encourage you to purchase your tickets as early as you can.

Please see the additional information below.

Sincerely,
Scot Landry
(on behalf of the entire Conference organizing teams)

Facebook Friend Us please

Many attendees and parish captains suggested that we establish a presence on Facebook. So we made a page yesterday and we will continue to add content.

In order to capture the URL of www.facebook.com/CatholicBoston we need 25 fans. So please, if you belong to Facebook, go right now to <http://www.facebook.com/pages/Braintree-MA/Boston-Catholic-Conferences/263263705997> or search for Boston Catholic Conferences in the Facebook search box and become a "fan". As soon as we reach 25 fans, we can get rid of that long web address in favor of something a little easier to remember.

Thanks to all that suggested this.

Pilot Article on Donna-Marie Cooper O'Boyle (Women's Conf. Speaker)

"What struck me the most about Mother Teresa when I saw her for the first time was her diminutive size," recalls nationally known speaker and author Donna-Marie Cooper O'Boyle. "There stood the world renowned peacemaker, lover of the world's poor and a Nobel Peace Prize recipient - a giant - but in the body of someone not much taller than my young daughter!"
